

SAINT PATRICK SAINT MARGARET MARY

Sunday's Readings

First Reading:

"You shall not wrong any widow or orphan.
If ever you wrong them and they cry out to me,
I will surely hear their cry.
My wrath will flare up, and I will kill you with the sword; then your own wives will be widows, and your children orphans."
(Ex 22:21-23)

Psalm:

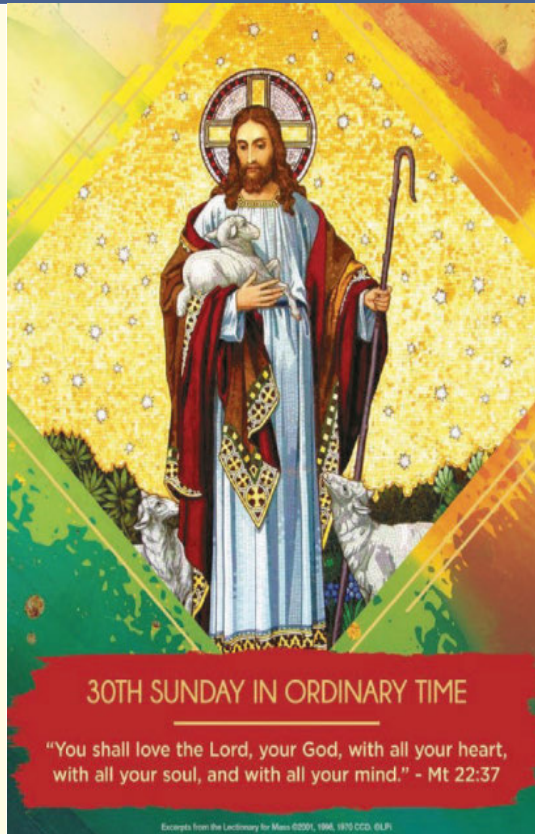

I love you, Lord, my strength. (Ps 18)

Second Reading:

For they themselves openly declare about us
what sort of reception we had among you,
and how you turned to God from idols to serve the living and true God and to await his Son from heaven. (1 Thes 1:9-10)

Gospel:

"You shall love the Lord, your God,
with all your heart, with all your soul,
and with all your mind." (Mt 22:37)

Something More

Studies show we have some anxiety in the way we worship Christ, especially in our own understanding of God, and His presence in the Eucharist. One problem I hear, for example, it's not enough to be told God is present in the Eucharist; I must feel something to confirm it. The hidden but present God becomes impossible when our perception becomes the standard for his presence – warm feelings, positive changes in habits or behavior, or intellectual breakthroughs with theology or biblical interpretation.

We all feel a longing for something more and this longing is meant to be filled by God. In our lives, sin does occur; by putting things above God in the practical way we live, filling our need with things which are not meant to satisfy it. Money, sex, power, success, fame, approval, things, comfort, experiences, other people, and a host of other things promise us self-esteem, acceptance, and pleasure; these things ultimately cannot deliver and, more so, our enjoyment of them is compromised when we put pressure on them to act as gods. The oil tycoon Rockefeller who, when asked how much money is enough, replied, "Just a little bit more." It's never enough, is it?

When we think of the Eucharist, in which one receives the bread and wine (physical elements) as the body and blood of Jesus, simultaneously, one experiences Christ. We want the fullness of God's revelation to be in something tangible, which we can hold in our hand; – in whom the fullness of the Father was pleased to dwell. It is something which must be seen through, not a resting-place for the human gaze, but rather a lens to bring the figure of God's presence into sharper focus.

Refocusing on Jesus in the Eucharist as the source of our acceptance will push out our unhealthy attachment to idols, and it will allow us to live less destructive, more satisfied/joyous lives.

Deacon Mike
